A METHOD FOR MONITORING BINDER DISTRIBUTION ON A SURFACE

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and apparatus for determining binder distribution on a sample in which a selected sample is contacted with a transfer medium in a manner such that at least 15% of any fluorescing binder present on the surface of the sample will be transferred to the transfer medium, a digital image of the transfer medium is generated and analyzed for binder distribution.